

Wabash.

THE ROAD TO THE NCAA TOURNAMENT | 2022

FOR A GREENER FUTURE.

Bainbridge: 765-522-6216

Roachdale: 765-522-1000

Russellville: 765-435-2620

Crawfordsville:

South Blvd: 765-362-9555

Downtown: 765-362-4900

TRI-COUNTY BANK&TRUST

tricitybank.net NMLS: #422911

A SUPPLEMENT OF THE Journal Review

GOOD LUCK

WABASH

BINGO

Fridays
at 6:30 pm!

Bingo license
#140692

AMERICAN LEGION POST 72

The American Legion Byron Cox Post #72
101 Walter Remley Drive Crawfordsville, IN 47933

Little Giants head to the NCAA Tournament

Jeff Nelson

Journal Review

The Wabash journey into the NCAA D3 tournament doesn't start with a single step.

Try 587 miles worth of steps.

The Little Giants, playing in the national tourney for the first time since March of 1998, head to Atlanta, Georgia, for what fans hope are two games this weekend.

They will take on Berry College in the first game of the first round Friday.

The Vikings are located in Mt. Berry, Georgia, which is about 90 miles from the campus of Emory College, the host school of the three-game weekend.

Wabash, sitting on a school-record 20-game win streak, will take on a team that has won its last 14. Like the Little Giants, Berry won their conference tournament by one point last week.

Along with scouting and handling the travel logistics of bussing those many miles, that 85-84 overtime win over Wooster last Saturday at Chadwick Court for the first NCAC Tournament championship was worth one last look back.

"It was awesome. It was special for not only our team and our school, but for all the local people who support Wabash," Little Giants and NCAC Coach of the Year Kyle Brumett said. "It's been a long year and a half for everyone. My parents were able to come, my brother was here, a really good coaching friend snuck in and out without telling me, and the community support was just so impressive. And then there is the alumni support, which is at another level."

How the Little Giants won last Saturday was as important as the win, as they head into national play.

A close game, back and forth, with last-second opportunities is standard fare in the NAAs. Wabash had played in only one single-digit margin game this calendar year.

"We hadn't played an overtime game all season," Brumett said. "Wooster brought some different looks at us from the other two times we played them, and that challenged us. You can't simulate that pressure, and an experienced team like ours rose to that challenge and that pressure. That is what has made this team good, and what we will take with us on the road."

That road includes a long bus ride, as NCAA rules dictate that any team less than 600 miles out has to bus to the site. Crawfordsville sits just that 13 miles short. The Little Giants left Tuesday evening to put the miles behind them early.

"That gives us a little more time to get into our regular pattern and rhythm," the coach said. "Our trip to (the Great Lakes Invitational in) Marietta (Ohio) back in November gave us some lessons in travel. We will be ready from an execution and logistical standpoint."

The Vikings, sporting a 23-2 record, present a size challenge, according to Brumett.

SEE TOURNAMENT/4

TOURNAMENT

FROM PAGE 3

“They are really physical,” he noted. “They have a point guard who looks to play physical, and they’ve got a big center, and their wing player is a lot like (Wooster forward Najee) Hardaway. They are a good team and they are in the tournament for the right reasons. It does look like there are some contrasting styles though. They might want the game to be lower scoring than us.”

The Vikings are led by Austin Brooks and Chase Ellis, who both average 13.1 points. As a team, they posted 74 points a game.

The Little Giants, 24-3 on the season, average 90.9 points a game.

It’s the second trip to the national tournament for Coach Brumett, but the first for the current stable of Little Giants.

“This has been our goal for four years,” Wabash all-time leading scorer Jack Davidson said. “We know its win or go home at this point. Every game we’re going to treat as if its our last. These are the 64 best teams in the country. Every game will be a big test for us and we’ll have to prepared and be ready for every opponent.”

Davidson, named NCAC Player of the Year for the second time and First-Team All-Conference for the third, sets the pace with a 25.2 scoring average. He set a new conference tournament scoring record with 97 points.

“We’ve been talking about this for a long time,” Tyler Watson said. “We’ve put in the work and have prepared for this moment to where it’s not going to be too big for us. We know it’s one game at a time, 40 minutes to prove who the better team is. We know if we stick together and play hard we’ll be a tough out for anybody who faces us.”

Watson, also named First-Team All-Conference, pitches in 15.9 points and leads the team with 5.3 assists.

Kellen Schreiber, the third starting senior on the team, is at a 15.1 scoring pace and has hit just under 70 percent of his shots, fifth-best in the nation.

“It’s going to be something exciting and something new,” the senior said. “It was new for us hosting the conference tournament and now we just have to restart the season again. We’re 0-0 again and It’ll be an exciting experience for all of us.”

“The depth of our scoring will be a challenge for anyone,” Brumett said of the points distribution. “We feel good about our matchup, and we really feel our depth can be a factor. Our six through 12 guys can make big contributions.”

Ahmoni Jones is also in double-figures, as the junior has a 14.1 scoring average.

“Our Big 4 is truly a Big 4 for us,” Brumett said. “We’ve got weapons, and we are excited to play. It is truly an exciting time of the year, and the support has been so great. Some alums, including guys from the ‘82 team helped sponsor a dinner, and the ‘98 guys are really behind us. So are so many players from so many other good Wabash teams. The experiences of the year keep making this team better and better, and gives us confidence.”

The Little Giants — Vikings game Friday is scheduled for a 4:40 start. Host school Emory faces Averett in the other game, with the two winners squaring off Saturday.

The games can be viewed at: emoryathletics.com/sports/mbkb/live.

Meet You At Arni's™

GOOD LUCK
WABASH!

114 WABASH AVE., CRAWFORDSVILLE IN
(765) 362-2764

BURKHART
FUNERAL HOME

Good Luck Wabash Basketball!

201 W Wabash Ave • Crawfordsville • 765-362-5510
www.BurkhartFH.com

Kyle Brumett: The leader of the Little Giants

Codey Emerson
codey@jrpress.com

Kyle Brumett has been at the helm of the Wabash men's basketball program now for eight seasons. In those eight seasons he has posted an overall record of 122-75 and is 77-48 in the North Coast Athletic Conference. While he has success with the Little Giants during his tenure, nothing comes close to the success and accolades that he and the Little Giants have accomplished this season. Wabash is 24-3 and winners of 20 straight games, the longest winning streak in school history after capturing their first NCAC title in school history.

Brumett not only has constructed this all-star roster, but has enjoyed every step along the way.

"I love my job," he said of being at the helm of the Little Giants. "I get to work with these guys every single day and that's a win in itself. I love recruiting and what division III basketball is about. I also love seeing our guys change over the course of their four years here at Wabash. On the flip side of things I am a very competitive person and it's always been a part of who I am. I try to teach guys life lessons through trying to win and trying to be the best."

Being the best is something that Wabash has done extremely well this season. Earlier this week Brumett was honored by the NCAC with by winning the Coach of the Year award in the conference. The talent that he's brought in on the recruiting trail speaks for itself. Senior Jack Davidson along with Brumett was honored by the NCAC with its Player of the Year award. Fellow Seniors Tyler Watson and Kellen Schreiber made the All-Conference teams with Watson joining Davidson on the first team, and Schreiber making the second team. The three seniors were brought to Wabash by Brumett and are now reaping the rewards of being a Little Giant.

"We all know how much he loves us and would do anything for us," Watson said of Brumett. "Having that trust with him and knowing that he'd stick his neck out for anyone of us whether it be on or off the court. That makes it easier to play for a guy like that and it shows how special he is."

Schreiber talked about how the from the moment he was being recruited by Brumett, that's when he knew that Wabash was the place for him and that Brumett was the coach he wanted to play for.

"When he recruited us, from that moment on he really started to develop a special bond with all of us," Schreiber said of Brumett. "We know that we can go to him and be honest about anything and he'll be honest with us and we'll understand where he's coming from. These past four years have just been special to play for a guy like him."

For Davidson who under Brumett has become one of, if not the best player in Division III, he mentions how he's never had a coach who goes out of his way to build those special bonds and relationships.

"I don't think you have that kind of relationship with many coaches," he said. "With most coaches its just the on the court relationships, but off the court he makes it a priority to have that bond with all of his players."

Brumett's first year at the helm of the Little Giants in 2014-15 was a very successful one. He went 18-9 and Wabash placed third in the NCAC. The following three seasons proved to be challenging as Wabash went 36-42 with two seventh place finishes and one sixth place in the conference. The next three full seasons (excluding last years COVID year), Wabash and Brumett have put together a record of 62-18 with two second place finishes and of course an NCAC title this year.

"We as a program and myself as a coach have finally gotten to the point where we can enjoy the benefits of winning," Brumett said. "I've enjoyed the depth of our roster all the way from our older guys like the seniors, to our young guys who are freshman. Those young guys chose Wabash for the right reasons and have the chance to be really special."

Brumett over the course of his tenure with the Little Giants has made it a focus to not only succeed in either the classroom or on the court, but both at the same time. While Wabash is known for its academics and the high-level of education, the experience on that student-athletes receive on the court allows them to get the full Wabash experience. Brumett talked about that experience as well his recruiting style and

"I've always wanted to work at places where the students couldn't use one thing as an excuse for the other," Brumett said. "You can get a world-class education here at Wabash and be and be an All-American basketball player and your team win championships. I knew that coming in because coach Petty did it, but more recently because you look up and down our athletics and we have very successful wrestling, football, and track and field programs. When I'm recruiting guys, I'm very blunt. I tell guys if they can play right away or if they have to get better. Also at the end of the day I tell the guys that they shouldn't come to Wabash if they're not serious about being a student or as a young man. I believe that anyone who comes to Wabash can do it all here and get the full college experience and that isn't the case everywhere. That's why this was really good opportunity for me and my family."

The season that the Little Giants are having has not just the Crawfordsville community taking notice. Brumett talked about how many former players as well as Wabash alums in general are showing a vested interest in what Brumett and the Little Giants are accomplishing this season.

"I think anywhere you go and coach and have sustained success, you'll have those former players who pay attention to what you're doing," he said. "What separates Wabash apart is that guys that didn't play basketball love what we're doing just as much. Alumni from all ages are calling me up, coming to the games, and going on the road with us."

There's no debating this Wabash team will go down as one of the best in school history. Coach Brumett currently stands in third place in Wabash history in career wins.

More than the success he's had in his eight season, Brumett is loved by his players, fellow assistant coaches, the Crawfordsville community, and most importantly the Wabash community.

He and the Little Giants will open up the Division III men's basketball tournament at 4:40 p.m. Friday in Atlanta, Georgia against Berry University.

ROLL-OFF DUMPSTERS DELIVERED TO YOUR HOME, BUSINESS, OR JOB SITE.

TRASH SERVICE

GOOD LUCK

IN THE TOURNAMENT!

Residential • Roll-off • Commercial

765-359-1610 • 43 W 700 N, Crawfordsville | Serving Lafayette as well!

Family & Friends

FUNERAL HOME

GOOD LUCK
WABASH!

A MODERN APPROACH TO AN HONORED TRADITION

Wallace & Janet
Kirkpatrick
Hooker

9700 N State Road 55, Wingate, Indiana 47994

Phone: (765) 275-2322 Fax: (765) 275-2330

www.familyandfriendsfh.com

GOOD LUCK
Wabash Basketball

HICKORY CREEK
HEALTHCARE

Crawfordsville

(765) 362-8590

817 N. Whitlock Avenue, Crawfordsville, IN 47933

Wabash seniors leading Little Giants in historic season

Jeff Nelson
Journal Review

We might need a new term to describe the Wabash basketball careers of the four seniors on this team.

They are enjoying the fruits of four (or in one case five) years of hard work and dedication to the Little Giants program.

They are the lead characters of a team that has won the first NCAC championship in school history and with a win tonight, will host the first NCAC semis and finals in program history.

They are riding a 17-game win streak, the second-longest in school history.

They are eyeing the first NCAC tournament championship and possibly the first NCAA D3 tournament appearance since 1998.

Oh, yes, three of them have scored more than 1,000 points throughout their careers.

And when they come back for Alumni gatherings, they will be able to talk about missing a season due to a pandemic.

Tyler Watson, Kellen Schreiber, Jack Hegwood and Jack Davidson are the leaders of this team that is 21-3 and won the conference title with a 16-1 record.

Davidson, Watson and Schreiber are the three leading scorers and the engine that drives the Wabash machine.

Hegwood holds the rest of them accountable, and keeps them focused, even though he sleeps on the couch at their shared apartment.

"It's the relationships," Hegwood said of the strength of this team. "We are a tight-knit group, friends on and off the court. From last off-season, I saw this team start to build on what we had. I knew we had the pieces, and that we could do something special."

Full disclosure, Hegwood sleeps on the couch by choice, but doing that puts him literally in the middle of everything that goes on every minute, because the Seymour House apartment is a regular meeting place for the entire team.

It is the building of this special team that has been the goal of the coaches and the seniors.

"It starts with bringing the right guys to Wabash," Head Coach Kyle Brumett said. "Coach (Patrick) Sullivan and I have tried to do that, and put together a vision of what they can do together, as a team. These seniors have envisioned it, and that has become something special. It's also what makes Wabash so special - they look for the best in you, and these guys look for the best in each other and their teammates, and then bring it out."

Watson, who set the single-game assists record earlier this season and has 1,247 career points, noted that very point in his decision-making process to attend Wabash.

"Coach Brum and Coach Sully sold me on the vision of how we were going to win championships," the Tri-West grad said. "They had a plan. Most of the other coaches who I talked to didn't have a plan like they did."

What no one planned for, though, was Covid, a pandemic and the impact it had.

The postseason of their sophomore season was canceled, and last year was limited by conference, college and Covid. A team with high hopes played 12 games.

Davidson sat last season out, but came back to make this his senior campaign, and he has delivered, as he has his entire Wabash career.

The NCAC Freshman of the Year, he followed that with a Player of the Year award his second season, and is a leading candidate for that award again this year. He has also been named to the Bevo Francis Award watch list for the top small college player nationally. Both he and Watson have been named to the Academic All-District First Team. It is the third time for Davidson and second for Watson.

Davidson became the leading scorer in Wabash history earlier this season, and sits at 2,230 points.

"I watched these guys improve so much last season when I was gone," he noted. "I could see a really special group, I didn't want to miss that."

Schreiber, who was a high school classmate with Hegwood, emphasized the togetherness of the seniors that leads to the togetherness of the team.

"We worked so hard our first couple years," he said, "and it has continued all the way through. "We do everything together, we go out together, we work out together, we watch film together. We are right by each other's side. This has been such a special year. We swept DePauw for the first time in our years here, and we swept Wooster and Wittenberg for the first time in school history. It was something that had not been done and gave us a minute to celebrate. We just want to win all of them. We can never be satisfied. I know I'm just grateful for

SEE SENIORS/8

Good luck,
Wabash!

107 N. Grant Ave., Crawfordsville
765-362-0440

SENIORS

FROM PAGE 7

these guys, for the opportunities. Covid cut the tournament and last year - we can't get that back, so we just have to be grateful for those we get."

Schreiber is another current member of the 1K club, with 1,102 points.

"You don't often have three thousand-point scorers on a team," Brumett said. "The accolades Jack (Davidson) is receiving are many and deserving. He is one of the best in the nation. Other guys are playing at such a high level. Watson has become one of the top assist guys. Schreiber is one of the best low post players in the country. Hegwood is the glue that keeps them all together. We have the talent that makes them a great team. They have been great teammates."

These four are not only great friends and teammates as seniors, they have brought the rest of the team under their wings.

The best example of that is Ahmoni Jones, who was named to the All-Tournament team at the Great Lakes Invitational at the start of the season.

"My transition to Wabash was hard," the junior from Indianapolis said. "These guys broke down the barriers. They brought me out, brought me along. They have been role models for me, and they push me, they inspire me. They have shown us that we are in this together. I'll be forever grateful."

"These guys will be in my wedding."

Four seniors, one adopted along the way, who have bounced over speed bumps never thought possible, who have persevered, adapted (even saying Covid was a bit of a blessing because it brought the team closer together) and succeeded.

"I hope these seniors will be remembered for and appreciated for all their tremendous contributions and the work they have put in," Brumett said. "They truly are brothers. Basketball and four years of college are supposed to be the best years of your life, a chance to make and become the best of friends. Groups like this don't come along very often."

These four seniors, these four friends, have made their mark on Wabash basketball. Chances are very good they will be remembered for a long time.

YOU'RE LOOKING FOR PEACE OF MIND.
WE CAN HELP WITH THAT.

GOOD LUCK, WABASH!

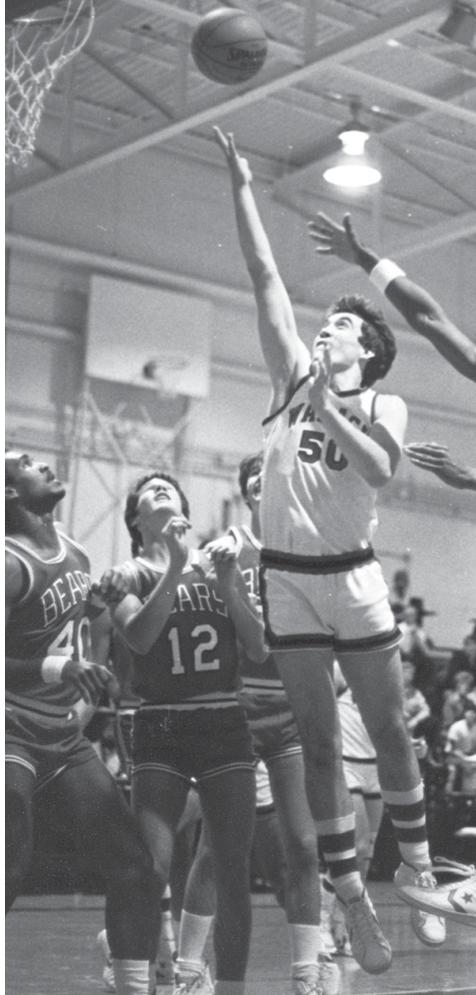

Having a parent in a safe, comfortable place with highly trained medical staff nearby and activities to keep them engaged can go a long way in reducing the amount of time you spend worrying. That's why we're here. Schedule a visit today.

ASSISTED LIVING
AND SO MUCH MORE

Wellbrooke of Crawfordsville 765-362-9122 • Crawfordsville, IN trilogyhs.com •

Recollections from the magical 1982 Season

Jeff Nelson
Journal Review

If you have followed Wabash Basketball for any time, we are not going to teach you anything new here.

You know all about this team
The magical 1982 championship.
The slow start.

The 19-game win streak that only stopped because they gave the Little Giants the National Championship trophy.

What we did here was ask some of the guys from the team, along with one of the radio crew, for their memories from 40 years ago.

As you will read, those memories are as fresh and alive today as they were in March of 1982, when the Little Giants walked on to the big stage and won the only team national championship in school history.

Enjoy.

MAC PETTY
Coach

It's hard to put a finger on any one thing. The way the players performed throughout the season was phenomenal. Then as we got into the playoffs their focus increased. One thought that comes to mind were the games we won to get to the championship game. The regional championship game with Hope in the first round, the Augustana game in the quarterfinals at home, and then the semifinal game with Stanislaus. Those were big wins and the whole team's performance was outstanding. The leadership of Mike Holcomb and Pete Metzelaars was something any coach would want, but the response from the younger players was even better. Then the last thought was how they played as a team. Everyone pulled for each other because TEAM was big for them.

VANCE PYLE

Radio play-by-play announcer

It has been 40 years but the memories and images of that road to the title remain forever. Here are a few ...

- Matt Petty, coach Petty's son and my son, Brian, running all over the gym and the hotel lobby and lounge after the game.

- Wabash President Lewis Salter playing the drums with the Little Giant pep band and his remarks in the post-game interview, remembering the Wabash sound thumping of Wittenberg (72-46) in game five of the regular season.

• The Brooklyn cheerleaders (all female) and the Wabash cheerleaders along with Wally Wabash dancing arm-in-arm in the stands to “The Wabash Cannonball.”

• John Horner bounding out of the bleachers at the end of the game with a smile on his face. All those in attendance will never forget Little Teddy Parker standing on the rim following the cutting of the nets.

• The one thing that this reporter will always remember will be the post-game interview with Pete Metzelaars’ father. The Metzelaars family was from Portage, Michigan, about 50 miles south of Grand Rapids and 40 miles north of the Indiana state line. A large group of family and friends had made the trip for the game. With about four minutes to go in the game, Mr. Metzelaars moved from his seat to a seat directly behind mine which was just beside the Wabash bench. During the last timeout of the game when Pete was receiving his standing ovation, his father remained seated with his glasses removed, his face buried in his hands and tears dropping to the floor. While waiting to interview coaches and players, I took the opportunity to talk to Mr. Metzelaars on the air.

In a very emotional voice, he told me all of the trips (football and basketball) over four years that he and his wife had made to Crawfordsville and all over the Midwest to see Pete play. Even though everyone felt Pete might be drafted by the NFL, there was no assurance that he would play another competitive athletic event. That was the emotional reality that a very proud father was facing. Little did he know at the time that Pete would play 12+ years in the NFL, playing in Super Bowls and in 2006 receiving a Super Bowl championship ring as a coach for the Indianapolis Colts.

CHRIS DENARI
Television PBP Announcer
Indiana Pacers

It’s really hard for me to believe it’s been 40 years since we won the National Championship in 1982. As the son of a high school coach who played for his father, what happened on March 20, 1982 in Grand Rapids, Michigan really resonated with me. It was the culmination of all the years of shooting in my driveway or back patio as a kid. Seeing how people became teammates on my Dad’s teams. And then having a chance to do it with a group of guys that wanted to be the very best at the Division III level. Now having broadcast on radio and television well over 2,000 basketball games at the high school, college and professional level, I think I appreciate it even more as I see individuals and teams strive to try and win their own championship. Some have gotten there, others have not. It is definitely worth the try, even if you fall short. Fortunately for the Little Giants in 1982, our “try” resulted in a championship we will have for a lifetime.

MERLIN NICE ‘84

Forty year ago, the Little Giants basketball team had a dream season. It started out with the leadership of our two outstanding seniors (Pete Metzlaars and Mike Holcomb). The season began somewhat slow and at one point we were 5-4, but had just returned from a trip to Louisiana and Texas having played three games against DI and DII teams as we were very competitive in all three contests. Returning back to Crawfordsville the feeling on the team was we can finish our year strong and compete in every contest. Well, we went onto a 14 game winning streak and grew as a team in becoming a true TEAM as our confidence grew in that everyone player knew and accepted their roles. We finished the regular season ranked #9 in the country.

For the regionals we went to Hope College and Ohio Northern awaited us. They had an All American center, but our All American (Pete) outplayed theirs by scoring 30 points and we moved on to play the only D III team that had beaten the Little Giants during the regular season. We avenged the earlier loss by winning 82-70. I recall in this game that we had some foul trouble, but both Kerry Seward and I shot the ball well scoring over 20 points each. Now onto the Quarterfinals!

We were excited to be playing at home against Augustana who were the National runner-ups the year before and ranked #7. Even though Spring break was in session this week, our fans filled Chadwick Court and the atmosphere was GREAT. With the outstanding support we had, the Little Giants went on to win 54-51 in one of the most intense games I had ever been associated with.

Our team was excited to move onto the Final Four and headed to Grand Rapids.

The week was good in preparing and our team was confident and looking forward to what lied ahead of us. We played Stanislaus in the semifinals and won 68-64. My recollection of this game was how we did not play our best and were behind late in the game, but Coach Petty put us in a half court trap that worked great and helped us to prevail. Now onto the Final game and playing for a National Championship.

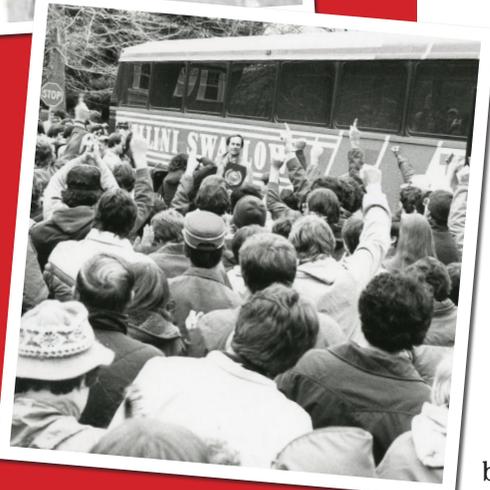

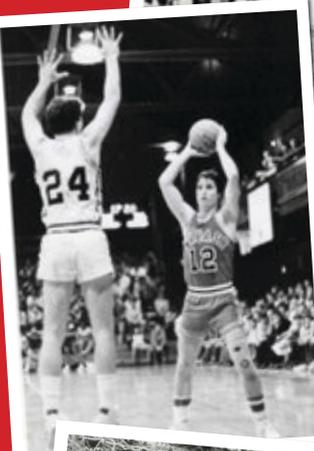

The game against Potsdam St. who was the returning national champs was late in starting as the consolation game went into OT. The Little Giants were pumped before the game with Chris Denari’s Boombox playing our good luck songs prior to the game which had been our year long ritual. This game was also televised live on a new sports channel called ESPN which made the game even more exciting. The Little Giants started out well and had a lead going into halftime. What I remember most about halftime was that our All American and MVP Pete Metzlaars told us “to get him the ball and we were not going to lose this game.” Well the big guy took over the second half and the Little Giants went onto win 83-62 which was the largest margin of victory of any D III Finals. The crowd of fans and students that welcomed us back to Crawfordsville was awesome with pictures of this being in the Indianapolis Star the following day.

When looking back on this dream season 40 years ago, I was blessed to shoot 24-24 from the FT line for the tournament and named to the All-Tournament team in the finals. Most of all was the great teammates I played with and many of which are good friends to this day. Also, much credit goes to Coach Petty and his coaches for developing our team into what it became - 1982 D III National Champs!

MIKE HOLCOMB
Co-Captain
Class of 1982

Looking back at our National Championship team, I am amazed that it has been 40 years. The memories of these games and time with my teammates are forever etched in my mind. We all know how hard it is just to get invited to the tournament, let alone win a National Championship in any sport, so I am very proud of what this team accomplished. I appreciate the opportunity to share some my magis from my magis and what made this team so special.

First and foremost, we were all good friends. We enjoyed each other's company, and this helped us work through some ups and downs throughout the season. I had been on many teams before this one, and most of the time you saw cliques form and team members not always being supportive of each other. This team was different. Yes, we were competitive and yes, we had some very physical practices where we went after each other, but at the end of the day, we supported each other, and made each other better, on and off the court. This made the difference.

Secondly, every member of this team, knew their role and played it perfectly. We didn't have any big egos on this team. With only 2 Seniors on the roster, we needed a lot of underclassmen to step in and help during critical situations ... and they did it with excellence. There were many games throughout the run that different players had to step up and help support us when others were off their game. We never knew when this would happen, but each member of our team, when called on to deliver, stepped up and made a difference. We really were a "Team" in every sense of the word.

Finally, we didn't let adversity get in our way. Many people don't remember this, but we came through Christmas break with a 5-4 record and could have been frustrated with each other, with the coaches, but we hung in there and persevered. We weren't playing very well and were really trying to find our identity, since there were several important players on the team who were experiencing Varsity play for the first time at the College level. They needed to mature, and we needed to continue to come together as a team. We didn't quit and we committed to each other that we were going to turn the ship around and focus on getting better every game. As one win happened after another, it was clear to us we were a good team - didn't know yet that we were a great team but could feel the momentum on our side. As we won 19 games in a row to win the National Championship, our hard work and dedication to each other paid off.

I want to thank Wabash, Mac Petty, our other coaches, and support staff for the opportunity of a lifetime to win a National Championship. I always tell people, yea, I won the National Championship the same year Michael Jordan did, and we have the same watch to prove it!

His happens to say Division I and mine says Division III, but who's counting.

Thanks for all the memories and wish we could have come together in February to celebrate together.

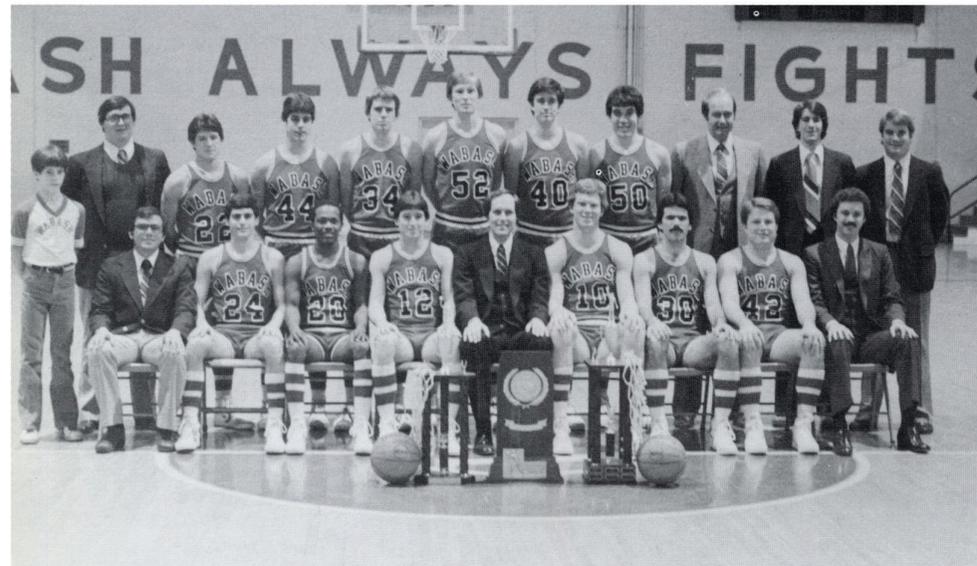

PETE MEZELAARS Co-Captain

Looking back 40 years, the first thing I think of is the joy of that whole journey, the joy of stringing the whole thing together, Mike (Holcomb) and I were on teams that made the tournament as sophomores and juniors, but lost in the first round. As seniors, and co-captains, we knew that we had a pretty good team. Mike hit a winning shot in a game, and we had a conversation about what we needed to win a national championship.

It would take a good point guard, a good shooting guard and a good center. We knew we had the guys to do those things — we just needed everyone to fill their roles. We just said to each other "we've got that — why not us?"

Early in the season we had three close losses — we might have or could have won a couple of those Division 1 teams, and I told Coach Petty that we shouldn't lose another game. As it turned out, we didn't. We knew we could be pretty good if we played the way we were capable of. We also knew the Selection Committee wasn't sold on us, and Coach told us we needed to convince them, so we doubled up Rose Hulman, who was already in. We sent a message that we wanted in, and then we proved that we belonged. We won the early games and then played Augustana at Chadwick Court. They were a very good team, and it was great to beat them at home. It was a lot of fun.

Winning the national championship was unbelievable at the time, and its pretty sweet 40 years later. There have been a lot of great teams at Wabash, there have been a lot of great years and great players. Every year, you want to be the champs, and it is remarkable that we were able to accomplish that.

We were truly a team, with guys for every role. As Senior leaders, Mike and I led, and the guys followed. We meshed, and every guy had a part in winning the championship.

Like I said, it was a memorable journey.

LASERWASH

CARWASH

GOOD LUCK WABASH!

US 231 S, Crawfordsville (Across from Arby's)

GOOD LUCK WABASH!

Journal Review

119 N Green St, Crawfordsville, IN | (765) 362-1200
Log on to www.journalreview.com today.

Serving Montgomery, Fountain, Boone, Putnam, Tippecanoe and surrounding counties for over 50 years!

GOOD LUCK, WABASH!

GREG MORRISON

OWNER/BROKER
765-366-1521
greg@davismorrison.com

BROKER
DALE WILSON
765-376-6178

BROKER
CASEY HORN
765-366-9904

BROKER
SARAH DEVORE
765-225-1427

BROKER
STACEY BAIRD
765-720-2075

BROKER
KAY SOWDER
765-918-1538

RESIDENTIAL • COMMERCIAL • FARMS

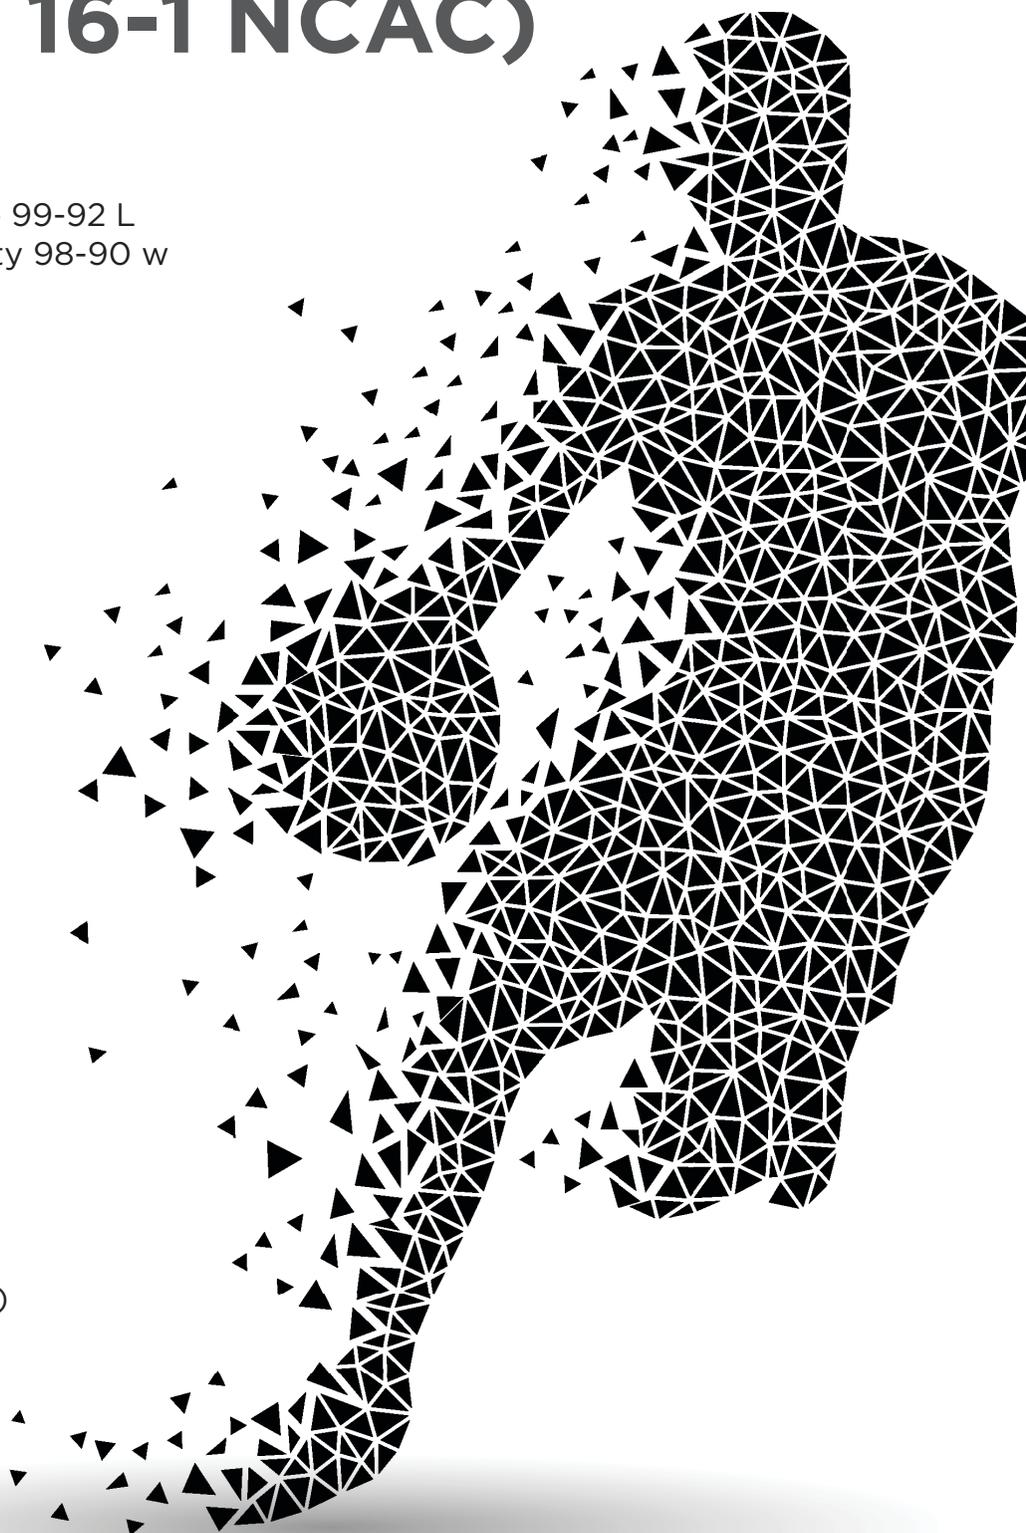

DAVISMORRISON.COM

Little Giants 2021-22

Schedule (24-3, 16-1 NCAC)

Nov. 6 @ Centre College 74-70 W
Nov. 10 vs Hanover College 83-81 L
Nov. 19 @ Great Lakes Invitational vs Marietta College 99-92 L
Nov. 20 @ Great Lakes Invitational vs Emory University 98-90 w
Nov. 28 @ Denison University 92-87 W
Dec. 1 vs Rose Hulman 67-64 W
Dec. 4 vs Oberlin College 87-85 L
Dec. 8 @ Ohio Wesleyan University 86-58 W
Dec. 11 vs Wittenberg University 101-73 W
Dec. 19 @ Mount St. Joseph University 96-88 W
Dec. 21 vs Anderson University 96-84 W
Dec. 30 at Oberlin College 75-74 W
Jan. 14 at Hiram College 100-79 W
Jan. 15 at Kenyon College 92-64 W
Jan. 19 vs DePauw University 96-70 W
Jan. 26 @ Wittenberg University 87-69 W
Jan. 29 vs Denison University 86-63 W
Jan. 30 vs The College of Wooster 94-80 W (Jack Davidson becomes all-time leading scorer in Wabash College history)
Feb. 5 vs Allegheny College 104-89 W
Feb. 6 vs Hiram College 103-83 W
Feb. 9 vs Ohio Wesleyan University 88-74 W
Feb. 12 @ The College of Wooster 97-75 W
Feb. 16 @ DePauw University 81-72 W
Feb. 19 vs Kenyon College 98-75 W
NCAC Tournament
Feb. 22 vs Hiram College 101-79 W
Feb. 25 vs Denison University 98-74 W
Feb. 26 vs The College of Wooster 85-84 OT W
(20-game winning streak, longest in school history)
NCAA DIII Tournament
Mar. 4 vs Berry College @ Emory University

GOOD LUCK, WABASH!

Family Center
CRAWFORDSVILLE
MOOSE LODGE #6

Moose

BINGO
Tuesdays
at 6:30 PM!
Bingo License
#1786

LODGE #6 • 402 Waynetown Rd. • (765) 362-5091
BANQUET ROOM AVAILABLE FOR RENT!
Perfect for business parties & wedding receptions!

GOOD LUCK,
Wabash!

 Hobson
Electric, Inc.

For all your electrical needs
Office: 765.362.3756

Our family
CARING FOR YOURS.

GOOD LUCK
WABASH!

SANDERS PRIEBE FUNERAL CARE
315 S Washington St, Crawfordsville, IN | (765) 362-6849

SANDERS SHOEMAKER FUNERAL CARE
202 Bratton Road, Waynetown, IN 47990 | 765-234-2224

SANDERS FUNERAL CARE
203 S. 1st Street Kingman, IN 47952 | 765-397-3499

Good Luck, Wabash!

PREMIUM WIRELESS RETAILER

 VENTURE
wireless

1579 S US Hwy 231 • 765-612-0255
Mon-Fri 9am-7pm | Sat 9am-4pm | Sun 11am-4pm

Wabash.

GOOD LUCK WABASH!

ENSURING THE FUTURE OF

OUR community

TRI-COUNTY BANK

Our vision is simple.
We want to be the best provider of financial services in West
Central Indiana.

tricitybank.net

NMLS: #422911

